

Curriculum Vitae

C. Denson Hill

Current Position

Professor of Mathematics
Department of Mathematics
Stony Brook University

Education

Rice University 1957-1961
B.A. 1961 Mathematics & Physics
Courant Institute, NYU
M.S. 1963, Ph.D. 1966 Mathematics

Academic Employment

Rockefeller University
Research Associate 1965-1966, Assistant Professor 1966-1967
Stanford University
Assistant Professor 1967-1972
Stony Brook University
Associate Professor 1973-1975, Professor 1975-present

Visiting/Temporary Positions

Cornell University, summer 1964
Assistant to Mark Kac
Brookhaven National Laboratory, summers 1963, 1965, 1966
Visiting Assistant Mathematician
Universita di Pisa, 1970-1971
NATO Postdoctoral Fellow
Institute for Advanced Study, Fall 1974
Visiting member
Universita di Firenze, 1979-1980
CNR Visiting Professor
Naval Underwater Systems Center, summers 1986, 1987
Consultant
Steklov Institute, Moscow, summer 1992
Nat. Acad. Sci. Exchange Visitor

Shorter Visits of one month or a few weeks at:

SISSA (Trieste), IVIC (Caracas), Paris VI (Paris), Institut Fourier (Grenoble),
Institute for Theoretical Physics (Warsaw), Schrodinger Institute (Vienna),
Humboldt University (Berlin); Mathematics departments at: Pisa, Florence,
Rome (Italy), Bonn, Berlin, Leipzig (Germany), Regina, London (Canada),
Morellia (Mexico), Pittsburgh, San Diego (USA)

Professional Affiliations

AMS, MAA

Awards and Honors

B.A. degree magna cum laude (Rice)
Alfred P. Sloan Research Fellowship (Stanford & Stony Brook)
NATO Postdoctoral Research Fellowship (Pisa)
CNR Visiting Research Fellowship (Florence)
National Academy of Sciences Exchange Fellow (Moscow)

Presentations of last 5 years [Talks at meetings, colloquia, seminar talks] at:

Levico Terme, Florence, Padova, Potenza, Rome (Italy), Vienna (Austria),
Berlin, Bonn, Leipzig (Germany), Paris, Grenoble (France), Warsaw (Poland),
Serra Negra (Brasil), Rutgers, San Diego, Wisconsin (USA)